Over 90 titles in ABI/INFORM Trade & Industry (available as a separate product or as part of ABI Inform Complete) provide detailed analysis of the automotive industry. Content includes essential trade publications (Automotive Industries, Automotive News, Autoweek and many more), Springer's International Journal of Automotive Technology and other scholarly titles, and reports on the auto industry around the world from Business Monitor International.

Business Monitor International publish quarterly reports on the automotive industry for over 50 countries and regions, with overviews and analysis of the market, business environment, and industry developments, detailed data on the competitive landscape and demographics, and 5-year forecasts generated using the best-practice techniques of time-series and causal/econometric modelling.

The Company/Organization search and filter option on the Advanced Search Page allows users to find articles and reports relevant to a specific auto company.

Subscribers to ProQuest Historical Annual Reports get added depth of coverage, as there are several annual reports dating back into the early days of the industry, including reports for the ‘Big Three’ American automotive companies (Ford, GM and Chrysler) that chronicle the ups and downs and automotive transportation through time.
