ABI/INFORM has a rich array of content focusing on Latin America including reports from Business Monitor International and the Economist Intelligence Unit and news summaries from South American Business Information as well as scholarly and trade journals.

Full text scholarly journals available from South American universities include Estudios Gerenciales from Columbia’s Universidad Icesi and Revista Brasileira de Economia de Empresas from Universidade Católica de Brasília.

Over 30 reports from Business Monitor International cover industries including autos, banking, food and drink, insurance, petrochemicals, oil and gas, pharmaceuticals, power, telecommunications, transport, mining, tourism, and freight transport. Country reports from The Economist Intelligence Unit (EIU) are available for Argentina, Brazil, Cuba, Ecuador, Peru, and Mexico; downloadable EIU Country Data is available for Argentina, Brazil and Mexico.

ABI/INFORM users now have access to South American Business Information (SABI)’s archives, which contain a digest of the main business events that have taken place since 2005 in South America and Mexico. SABI, an international news service, provides around 1,000 executive summaries in English, drawing upon over 30 Portuguese and Spanish language newspapers, magazines and websites.

Around half of these summaries are focused on Brazil, and the remainder cover Argentina, Chile, Colombia, Peru, Venezuela, Ecuador, Uruguay, Bolivia and Mexico. SABI provides abstracts from the most high profile business media in these countries, saving time for business researchers monitoring trends in South America.

- Key scholarly journals: El Trimestre Económico (Mexico), Estudios Gerenciales (Colombia), Revista de Análisis Económico (Chile), Revista Brasileira de Economia de Empresas (Brazil)

- SABI summaries of key newspapers: Clarín (Argentina), El Economista (Mexico), O Globo and Folha (Brazil), plus many more

- Non-periodical content highlights: reports from Business Monitor International and The Economist Intelligence Unit. (ProQuest Entrepreneurship)

For additional information about training materials: http://proquest.libguides.com/ABI